As as startup

A startup will need to register or log in on our website in order to access its customizable account.

For login, by clicking on “Sign in” only the email and password will be required. If the credentials are recognized and validated by our database, the user will be redirected to the startup’s profile.

A rectangular form with a thin black border. It contains three input fields: "name" with the text "test", "Email" with the text "fictive@test.com", and "Password" with the text "password". At the bottom is a solid blue button with the text "Register" in white.

For registration (by clicking on “Get Started”), a name, an email, and a password will be requested before being redirected to the startup profile setup. On this page, the user will be able to provide the startup’s legal status, address, email, phone number, date of creation, description, website URL, social media URLs, needs, sector, stage of maturity, as well as the founders. Founders will receive an invitation to enter their email address in order to be added as part of the startup’s leadership in our database.

For profile customization, the user must access the profile before making any modifications. By clicking the “Edit Profile” button, the user can update all of their information.

A messaging system is also available through the chat bubble. Initially minimized, it can be expanded when clicked, displaying all conversations.

As an investor

In our view, an investor deserves to find the startup that best aligns with their philosophy. Therefore, they need a precise search tool, with customizable and varied filters, as well as access to the contacts of the startup in question. From the homepage, we offer a curated catalog of startups featuring those with the most interactions.

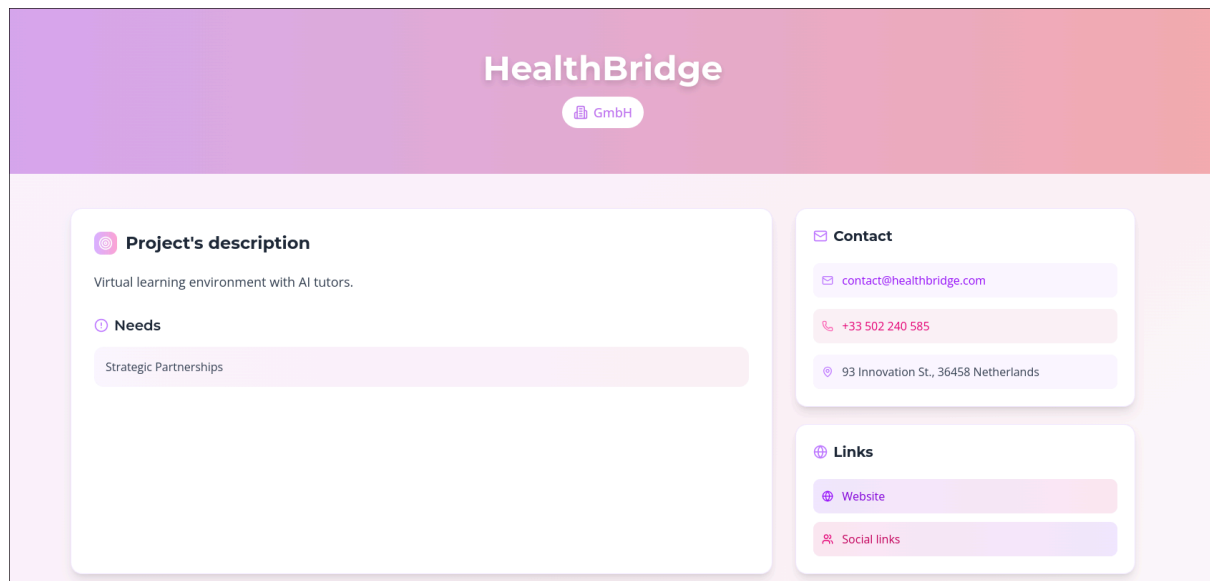

Curated catalog

But we also provide the same catalog in its most comprehensive version, accompanied by a search bar. This catalog can be filtered by sector, maturity, or location.

Full catalog with filters

By clicking on the startup cards, they will access a personalized page containing a description, contact information, social media links, and other relevant data.

As an admin

Finally, regarding the administration section. An administrator will necessarily be implemented manually. The administrator will have access to the admin platform, where they will find the list of users, with the ability to delete them if needed. They will also be able to add projects or be able to access the messagery of users.
